Local Businessmen Join Skills Center Foundation

Three Clark County businessmen have joined the Clark County Skills Center Foundation Board of Directors. A fourth has opted to serve on the Foundation's Investment Committee

Joining the board are Ted Davis: District Manager for Wells Fargo Bank; CPA Jim Fenstermaker of JF & Associates LLC; and Tim Probst: Chief Executive Officer of the Washington Workforce Association. Rick Van Hoose, Vice President of wealth management and trust services at Columbia Credit Union has also oined the Foundation's Investment Committee.

The Skills Center Foundation is tasked with raising funds to benefit the students enrolled in the Skills Center's technical programs. Opened in 1983, the Skills Center is owned and operated by ten southwest Washington school districts providing technical and professional training programs that prepare Clark County high school and college students for the workforce.
