Quartet Joins Skills Center Foundation

The Clark County Skills Center Foundation announces four community members have joined its Board of Directors. The four bring a breadth of community involvement and business backgrounds.

The new members include Greg Flakus, owner of GF Strategies: a food service consulting company located in Vancouver; Dena Horton, Program Manager for the Southwest Washington Agency on Aging; Karen Ciocia, Marketing Director for the JD White Company of Vancouver; and Jim Holder, local Certified Public Accountant.

The Skills Center Foundation is tasked with raising funds to benefit the students enrolled in the Skills Center's technical programs. Opened in 1983, the Skills Center is owned and operated by ten southwest Washington school districts providing technical and professional training programs that prepare Clark County high school and college students for the workforce.
